

Dreams come true – 2015

Josef Haid

Not one anymore

Sitting alone on a plane watching the clouds passing by A strange feeling 's back, grumbling deep inside
Feels like something I've lost, that was part of me
Without it I thought, that I could never be.

Not one anymore, a strange feeling inside
Not one anymore, something I've tried to hide
Not one anymore, it felt like a part of me
Without it I thought that I could never be

For years I was waiting, for this to return
To make me feel one again put me back on track
But what a mistake, what a waste of time
It never comes back, 'till the end of our lives

Not one anymore, a strange feeling inside
Not one anymore, something I've tried to hide
Not one anymore, it felt like a part of me without it I thought that I could never

Many years later, I finally understood
Losing this unity, is actually good
It's like a fire burning deep inside
Driving us to do to something good

Not one anymore, I finally understood
Not one anymore, this is actually good
Not one anymore, this grumbling deep inside
Not one anymore, is the fuel of our lives

...of our lives
...of our lives
...of our lives.
...of our lives.
